Measure your room

Record the space and furniture you want to keep before comparing arrangements.

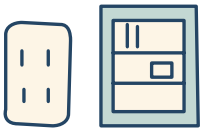

01 Start with the room boundary

Measure each wall and the ceiling height. Note the units you use and any changes in wall direction. Record actual measurements rather than estimating from a photograph.

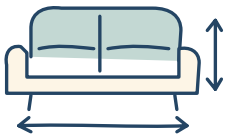

02 Locate doors and windows

Record the size of each opening and its distance from nearby corners. Note which way doors open. Include trim when checking the wall space available for furniture.

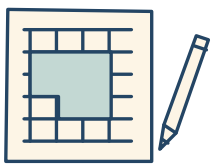

03 Mark fixed features

Add built-ins, fireplaces, stairs and anything that affects usable space. Mark outlets, switches and vents so you can consider them when placing furniture.

04 Measure the pieces you plan to keep

Record width, depth and height. Include room to open drawers, recline a chair or pull out a dining chair. Check how large pieces will reach the room.

05 Make a simple overhead sketch

Draw walls, openings and fixed features. Label your measurements, then add furniture at a consistent scale. Trace your usual routes and flag anything to check.

Take photos from the corners and of each wall. Add a close-up of anything that needs checking. Keep the photos with your measurements and sketch.

Use this sheet for planning. Confirm dimensions, features and furniture fit for the specific home before making a purchase.

Sketch, record & compare

Use one sheet per room. Add measured dimensions; the grid is a drawing aid, not a scale.

Room / plan: _____ Date: _____

Units used: _____ Ceiling height: _____ Sketch scale: _____

Sketch walls, doors, windows, fixed features and furniture. Label your measurements.

Furniture to keep

Item	Width	Depth	Height

What needs checking?

Bring your sketch, furniture notes and photos to your next home conversation.